“When She Cisplattined Dumin”

- He was a summer-intern,... she, a fair-maiden of the renal-ridden, overtly-oppressed lab. He thought he could influence the masses (of rodents) with his hind-splay mastery... until she unleashed her incredible powers of Centrifuge and Dimension. Never again would Building 400 remain the same. Never again will premeds spar with H.L.Yoh warriors. Just when you thought acrylamide would suffice, a new-age heroine proves that cisplattin will deem a more potent demise...
- “When She Cisplattined Dumin”...
- Starring: four-time oscar nominee, Marigo “In your face” Stathis, Martha “hell on wheels” Hasbun-Manning, Rick “In The Rough” Diamond, Michael “the doctor is in” Dumin (as himself), Konata “Hole-In-One” George, and Dr. JoAnne “Say it ain’t so” Saye
- HEAR WHAT THE CRITICS ARE SAYING:
- “This movie rocks” - Rolling Stone
- “Never before and never again will modern cinema showcase such brilliant performances. Stathis redefines the collective ideologies behind such concepts as: ‘Moxie’, ‘photogenic appeal’, and ‘Plantar Paw Skin’. She steals the movie... she makes the audience question the realities of pharmaceutical patriotism” - Time Magazine
- “I believe the virtues of Vitamin C can overcome all antagonistic attitudes towards such a controversial film” - Linus Pauling
- “Beyond the castration scene, featuring Dumin, which we truly found the only unreasonable scene of the movie, our entire opinion can be summed up in one Latin derived, yet quite timely adjective: SUPERB.” - Siskel and Ebert
- “Talk amongst yourselves... I’m feeling a little verklept, but I think Marigo melts on screen a little like BUTTA does in a frying-pan.” - Anonymous
