

Barley-souped perfection, prophetically described by the ancient Celts. Their sacred stellae foreshadowed Guinness changing Emerald-Isled history, by drawing magic from mediocrity. Carbon-dated harpstrings, Yeats' poetry, and Bono all reveal, in fact, that only after Guinness, did the first four leaf clover grow, leprechaun dance, and pub crawl.